THE MALONEY DIVORCE.

Helen Maloney, daughter of the wealthy Papal Marquis Martin Maloney, of Philadelphia, was granted a final decree annulling her marriage to Herbert Osborne of New York. The decree was granted by Justice Gerard in the Supreme Court of New York on the application of Miss Maloney's attorney. Miss Maloney was married to Osborne by a justice of the peace in Mamaroneck about two years ago, but subsequently remained at home with her parents in Philadelphia until she eloped with Samuel Clarkson to Canada, whence the couple went to England.

Fear that she might be compelled by her parents to marry a titled foreigner whom she disliked, was the reason which Helen Maloney declared impelled her to go through a marriage ceremony with Osborne, a young broker. The foreigner, whose name is not given, was a constant visitor to the Maloney home in the fall of 1905 and the spring of 1906.

This information, given by Miss Maloney under oath when she was being examined by a referee in connection with her application to have the purported marriage annulled, was gleaned from papers in the case, which were filed in court after a formal decree finally annulling the marriage was granted yesterday.

It has been rumored, that Miss Maloney will marry Clarkson, with whom she eloped after civil ceremony bound her to Osborne, but a dispensation will be necessary. She never acknowledged her husband.

SUICIDES.

There has been an epidemic of suicidal drownings in Halifax county within the last two years.

A man living near Mount Laurel ended his life in Staunton river two years ago. A woman soon thereafter did likewise in Bannister river. Still later another woman was found dead from cold and fatigue in efforts to reach Staunton river.

Last comes the death several days ago of Mrs. William J. Powell, a young mother, who, leaving her baby asleep, wandered off in the night, while her husband was sleeping in another room, and cast herself into the water. The motive prompting her to the rash act will probably never be known. She was apparently happy and was in a fair state of convalescence.

Kodol will, without doubt, make your stomach strong and will almost instantly relieve you of all the symptoms of indigestion. Get a bottle of it today. It is sold here by W. F. Creighton & Co.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Repeated demands for $3,000 and ignoring as many threatening letters from members of the Black Hand, Nicholas Volarite, an Italian barber, living in apartments over a grocery store on Fitzwater street, Philadelphia, with his wife and young son, was saved from what would undoubtedly have been a terrible death for himself and family when a next door neighbor stamped out a lighted fuse to a large dynamite bomb in the doorway of Volarite's home early today. The bomb, now in the hands of the police, contained enough dynamite to have blown up the entire block. It was fourteen inches long and four inches in diameter, being wrapped in wax paper, and had four fuses attached.

DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to use for piles. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

WOMAN IS SHOT DEAD.

W. H. Tilley, a well-to-do farmer, living three miles from Durham, N. C., shot and killed his wife Monday night and yesterday the coroner's jury held him without bail on a charge of murder. Tilley's story is that he snapped a Winchester rifle at a dog twice, and failure to fire made him "break" the gun. When he tried it the third time he struck the breech, and it fired into his wife's head, killing her almost instantly. He alarmed the neighborhood, and physicians from Durham went out. Sheriff Harward went immediately to the scene and arrested the man.

Mrs. Tilley often complained of her husband's threats against her life, and her little son said yesterday that they quarreled in the afternoon after Tilley had whipped him.

SHERIFF GETS THE GIRL.

William Larmore, sheriff of Wicomico county, Md., yesterday morning rushed to the wharf with pistol in hand and demanded that two men in a boat, then 30 yards from the wharf, return at once and surrender to him Miss Frances Jones. Miss Jones brought serious charges against J. Denson last April, when a preliminary hearing was given him before Justice John Phillips. Denson was released under bond, and the girl also gave bond to appear as a witness.

Court will convene in Wicomico county on the 27th, and the case will come up.

The object of the men in taking the girl away was to keep her on Hollands Island until after adjournment of court, but Sheriff Larmore defeated their plans and now has the girl at his own home, where she will remain until court convenes.

FIRE IN BALTIMORE.

McCoy Hall, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, was badly damaged by fire last night, which broke out in the north end of the building on the fifth floor. Archeological specimens of priceless worth, antiques which never can be replaced, valuable old manuscripts of ancient civilizations which were accumulated in years of research, thousands of scientific volumes on almost every subject taught at the institution and periodicals in almost every modern language were a prey to the flames. In addition to this almost inestimable loss, there were over 80 000 volumes in the academic library which were badly damaged by the water which leaked through from the fifth floor, to which the blaze was confined, and it will take many thousands of dollars to repair this damage. The damage to the building was probably $50,000, although no accurate estimate can be had for some days until experts go over the premises.

SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 18, 1908.

AMONG the most ridiculous things of the whimsical stage of republican political claims at present prevailing, is the twaddle of Judge Taft in his efforts to make it appear that upon his election depends the prosperity of this great republic, and contrawise should Mr. Bryan be the next president dire confusion and ruin would face everyone. The "big stick" has been flourished by the former rough rider only recently in order to make some timid, as well as uninformed, persons take stock in such ghost stories. If Mr. Taft or the president imagines for one minute that the voters, or the people, are to be gulled with any such stuff they place a much lower estimate upon the intelligence of a people than the people deserve. We have priestly advice as to the certain effectiveness of fighting the devil with fire, and it appears that Mr. Bryan is much of the same way of thinking. On every occasion he is striking back in words not misunderstood, and Taft, Sherman and Roosevelt are awake to the fact that while Mr Bryan has not accepted the president's advice to "speak softly and carry a big stick," he is roundly scoring this triumvirate as to the farcical assertion that they are the mecca of a people's hope and salvation. Mr. Bryan is not speaking softly, but in clarion tones is telling the people what they should do in order that "the people should rule." He is not carrying a big stick, but appears to have gloves enough, in the language of the ring, sufficiently durable to knock out all pretenders who may enter the ring to preach the gospel that Taft, and Taft only, is both prophet and apostle of a nation's future.

THOMAS L. HISGEN, candidate of the independence party for president, and William Randolph Hearst addressed a meeting at Memorial Hall, Columbus, Ohio, last night. Mr. Hearst read letters which he said had been written by John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company, to Senator J. B. Foraker, of Ohio, referring to legislation pending in Congress averse to the Standard Oil Company, and mentioning two inclosures of checks to Senator Foraker, one for $15,000 and another for $14,000. Mr. Hearst later read a letter written by Mr. Sibley, who was a representative from Pennsylvania, from the lower house of congress, who Mr. Hearst said he believed was a representative of the Standard Oil Company. The letter was written to Mr. Archbold, and relates how Mr. Sibley told Mr. Roosevelt that he should be careful how he offended the Standard Oil, and that he could not afford to depend merely upon the support of the people. Sibley's letter concludes as follows:

For the first time in my life I told the president some plain, if unpalatable, truths as to the situation politically, and that no man should win or deserve to win, who depended upon the rabble, rather than upon the conservative men of affairs. I don't know as he really liked all I said, but he thanked me with apparent heartiness.

The above needs but little comment. The republican party has been posing as antagonistic to trusts, while the fact has ever been apparent that this organization has been playing a double game with the American people. Answers from Senator Foraker and Messrs. Archbold and Sibley are awaited with interest.

IT IS estimated that 20,000,000 Americans change their residence for a week or more every year during the vacation season, and that in making the change they spend in railroad fare, board, recreative amusements and incidentals something more than $300,000,000. The vacation habit, says the New York Mail, has grown up during the last forty years, in great measure, since the Centennial exposition of 1876. No other country approaches our own in its summer phenomena.

THE republicans of Maine elected their candidate for governor on Monday by a plurality of less than 8,000 for the first time in a presidential year for more than a quarter of a century. As compared with the vote of 1904 the republican vote shows a loss of 4 per cent.; the democratic vote a gain of nearly 33 per cent. The tide sets strongly in the direction of democratic success. Should the other states go as Maine has gone the election of Bryan and Kern would be assured.

That one formal sentence is the official recognition of the death of the martyr.

The cholera situation at Manila is said to be steadily improving and today the health authorities repeated their declaration that the disease will be practically stamped out by the time the American fleet arrives, October 1. There has been an average of 20 cases a day since the outbreak and in about 30 per cent. of the cases the disease has proved fatal. There have been but six cases among the white residents and but two of the latter have died.

Mr. John Usher Markell, a resident of Frederick, Md., and well known in financial circles as the National Bank examiner for Maryland and Delaware, died yesterday of consumption, at Chester, Nova Scotia, where he had been spending the summer.

Rene Gasnier, the aeroplanist, met with a bad accident while making tests with his machine at Angers, France, yesterday afternoon. The connecting rod of the planes broke, and the machine crashed down from a height of 25 feet. Gasnier was severely cut about the head, and the aeroplane was wrecked.

Fire yesterday caused $25,000 damage to the Phelps Bank building, New York, which contained the Chenango Valley Saving Bank, the general offices of the 1900 Washer Company, the Dun Mercantile Agency and the headquarters of Wamsutta Tribe of Red Men. Seventy other offices in the building are ruined by water.

John Cook, a farmer, 78 years old, living near Philo, Ill., shot and killed Mrs. Edna McClelland in the presence of her four-year-old child with a rifle. He then turned the gun on himself in an ineffectual attempt at suicide. The woman is the mother of three children, and was housekeeping for Cook. The cause of the tragedy is a mystery.

Harry O. Landers, an artist, known in newspaper and art circles from his paintings of Irish scenes, died in Chicago yesterday from injuries suffered by being run over by a sightseeing automobile. The artist was crossing Dearborn avenue at the time of the accident, and did not notice the approach of the automobile. He died at the Passavant Hospital without regaining consciousness.

A large barn on the Birch property, near Butler, Baltimore county, Md., owned by Mr. Walter O. Ensor, was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. In the structure was stored a quantity of grain and hay, all of which was consumed. A large stack of wheat straw in the barnyard was also destroyed. The total loss is estimated at about $3,000.

The case of Representative J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, indicted on the charge of assault to kill a negro, following an altercation in a street car, will be called in the Criminal Court in Washington for trial immediately after the convening of Congress in December. The trial was deferred until that time to avoid calling Mr. Heflin to Washington during the recess.

The jury in the Joseph James murder case returned a verdict of guilty at Springfield, Ill., yesterday evening, and fixed the penalty at death. James was unmoved by the verdict. There was no demonstration following the announcement of the finding of the jury. James was tried on a charge of having murdered C. A. Ballard, this crime being largely responsible for the recent race riots in Springfield.

Joseph B. Martin, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, of Baltimore, is in a critical condition at the University Hospital, suffering from burns which he sustained by the explosion of an empty whisky barrel, into which he had placed a match in front of the saloon of Henry Schwab, yesterday afternoon. The child was thrown several feet into the air by the force of the explosion and when he descended he landed in the barrel.

If Count Boni de Castellane will accept an offer at $5,000 a week for ten weeks to appear in vaudeville, the former husband of Anna Gould will be seen on the stage in New York, during the winter. Percy Williams, manager of the Colonial and Alhambra theaters in New York and several others in Brooklyn, is said to have made the offer to Count de Castellane. It is reported that negotiations practically have been completed with the Frenchman.

Should Justice Gerard, of the Supreme Court, fail to sustain a motion made yesterday by counsel for Lieutenant Governor Chanler, the democratic nominee for governor, Mr. Chanler will be obliged to appear next Saturday for examination in connection with a suit instituted by William F. Clark to recover $20,000. Clark alleges that the lieutenant governor owes him $20,000 for publicity work in the interest of Mr. Chanler during his campaign this year for the democratic presidential nomination.

On board the steamer Afghan Prince, which arrived at New York yesterday from Brazil, were Deputy Sheriff Cowley and Prosecutor Gott, of Cleveland, having as a prisoner A. F. Bonelli, a banker, who is charged with stealing $30,000. Bonelli was a steamship ticket agent and had a banking business, particularly in foreign exchange. He disappeared June 18, and almost immediately complaints were made, charging that remittances failed to arrive in Italy, where Bodelli claimed to have correspondents.

One man known to be drowned, telegraph, and telephone wires prostrated, several business houses and residences damaged to some extent, and a partial flood of the streets are the visible results of a "northeaster" which struck Galveston at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and revisited it about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. With the wind whipping along at sixty-two miles an hour, it was feared that a repetition of the disastrous 1900 storm was at hand. In this belief hundreds left the city on the early trains, but their fears were proven groundless.

Ascending to his daughter's room at Atlantic City yesterday to upbraid her for her affection for a married man, with whom she was in love, the father of Bertha Sloan, a pretty 19-year-old girl, found her dying from the effects of laudanum which she had swallowed in a fit of melancholia. The girl was rushed to the hospital and may recover.

President Roosevelt yesterday entertained the natives of Oyster Bay at his summer home on Sagamore Hill. Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. W. Emlen Roosevelt and Mrs. Reeves Merritt assisted the president in receiving the guests. Refreshments, consisting of punch and ginger snaps, were served on the lawn, and every one was invited to make himself at home.

Spinning along the Tennallytown road at the Woodley crossing near Washington, in a 60-horsepower touring car about 6 o'clock last night, Lieut. T. F. Potts, of the United States Marine Corps, and Mrs. Earl Barbour, of the Highland apartments, met with a serious accident, when the car was struck by a northbound Rockville car and wrecked. Lieut. Potts was cut about the face and body, while Mrs. Barbour sustained a fracture of the collarbone and was otherwise injured.

Today's Telegraphic News

Gen. Luard Killed.

London, Sept. 18.—Unable to bear the accusations that he had murdered his wife, whose body, shot through the head, he found in a lane at Seven Oaks on August 24, Major General Charles Edward Luard is believed to have thrown himself in front of a train on the Southeastern Railroad at an early hour this morning and been ground to death.

Only yesterday the coroner adjourned the investigation into the death of Mr. Luard until September 23, with the intimation that he expected the arrest of the murderer before that date. The action was construed as the coroner's acceptance of the theory that the general murdered his wife. General Luard spent last night with his friend, Col. Ward, at Maidstone. He slipped from the house unobserved at an early hour this morning, leaving a note saying that he was unable to longer to bear the strain of the terrible accusation.

A few hours later his mangled body was found. Accident and murder theories were advanced at first but when the note was found, these theories were abandoned and that of suicide accepted.

Gen. Luard was one the most prominent of England's retired soldiers. He and his wife were out walking August 24. On the way home the general said he left his wife in the lane while he hurried home. When his wife failed to arrive within a short time, he went in search of her and found her body, with a bullet wound through the head. Many theories were advanced on the murder but none seemed at all satisfactory. A few days ago a half-witted fellow gave himself up and confessed that he killed the woman, but his statements were easily disproved.

General Luard was 69 years old and had served in South Africa. He suppressed the Irish uprising in London in 1867 and retired from the army with the rank of major general. His only son is now on his way home from South Africa.

Inter-Parliamentary Union.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—Two dominant notes for peace were sounded at today's sitting of the Inter-Parliamentary Union. Emperor William conceded to be the greatest force either for or against peace in the world, struck the first note when President Prince Henry of Carolath read the following telegram from the emperor:

"I hope the conference, comprising so many distinguished representatives of the great powers, will feel comfortable and at home in my capital. I trust they will do that which will contribute to the maintenance and blessings of universal peace, which is so dear to to my heart."

Tremendous applause greeted reading of his message.

This resolution was read as follows:

"This conference expresses the desire that all countries that are members of the union add a clause to their existing treaties of arbitration, providing that in case of disputes between two nations, the nature of which does not belong to the list of those for which the present treaties provide arbitration, neither disputant shall begin war before requesting the meditation of one or more disinterested powers to avoid war. The conference pledges itself to strive for the addition of such clauses to all existing treaties."

The debate on this resolution took up the greater part of the day.

Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri, President of the American group of the union, issued a statement to the press that either King Edward or Emperor William, or both, would be a suitable person to initiate a league composed of America, England, Germany and France to enforce universal peace.

The German newspapers this afternoon ridicule the Bartholdt suggestion, not that it is undesirable to have universal peace, but the scheme is impracticable.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Sept 18.—The stocks with an international market were active and strong at the opening and in the early trading showed advances ranging up to and around one point. Selling pressure then caused general yielding. After some wavering a strong tone developed due to a great extent to liberal buying by London.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is especially recommended for children. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Sold by W F. Creighton & Co.

The Market.

Georgetown D. C., Sept. 18 — Wheat 93-94

Mr. Bryan.

New York, Sept. 18.—Charging directly that the republican national committee "did not dare" make public before election the amounts and contributors from the directorate of the United States Steel Corporation, Wm. J. Bryan today reiterated his declaration that the steel trust is financing the republican campaign. "I state what everybody knows—that the steel trust has never been prosecuted and that no prominent republican has ever said anything in public against. I also say that the steel trust supplied the republican treasury with funds and that the republican national committee doesn't dare publish before election the contributions which they have and will receive.

"Mr. Sheldon, treasurer of the republican national committee admits this this morning in an interview. He is, as I understand it, a director in many constituent companies of the steel trust and he is quoted as saying that he sees no reason why individual directors in the trust should not contribute funds to the party."

Mr. Bryan arrived here today from Harrington and Wilmington and will remain in New York until morning when he goes, first to New Haven, where he will place a wreath on the grave of the late Col. Alexander Troup, then to Providence for his speech.

He was driven directly to the Hoffman House where he went into conference with National Chairman Mack as to the campaign in the east. At noon Bryan addressed an enormous crowd at the Broadway headquarters of the Commercial Travelers Democratic Club, he devoting most of his speech to a discussion of the trust question as it affects traveling salesmen, declaring that the "illegal combinations" make it impossible for a good salesman to secure the reward that he would get for his labors were competition possible.

New York, Sept. 18.—William Jennings Bryan reached the national democratic headquarters here shortly after ten o'clock. He was immediately surrounded by a crowd of reporters and he gracefully submitted to an interview.

Mr. Bryan refused to discuss the Hearst charges involving Senator Foraker with the Standard Oil trust, and in reference to the statement from the same source that Governor Haskell, of Oklahoma, the treasurer of the national democratic committee, has been an official of the Standard Oil. He said he was satisfied that Haskell would be able to answer any charges made against him.

Asked as to what changes of sentiment towards democracy he had noticed in the east this year as compared with his entry into the "enemy's country" in 1896, Mr. Bryan said, "The sentiment has changed in this respect. There is not the feeling of hostility towards the democratic platform, or the feeling of fear that a democratic victory would be followed by a business depression. The panic of last fall has completely disposed of the pet theory of republican orators that the republican party could guarantee prosperity. I am satisfied that no legitimate interest feels that it will be menaced or jeopardized by democratic success. Our platform clearly outlines what is to be expected as the result of democratic victory. No one can tell what interpretation will be placed upon the republican platform by the president, if the republicans win."

The Hearst Fraud Charges.

New York, Sept. 18.—"If Mr. Hearst had come to Mr. Archbold direct it would probably have cost him less to secure copies of Mr. Archbold's correspondence than for Mr. Hearst to have either employed or dealt with thieves."

This was the reply of John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company, when questioned today regarding the statements made by Hearst in his Columbus, O., address last night.

"Such correspondence and relations as I may have had years ago with Senator Foraker," continued Mr. Archbold, "were entirely proper and legitimate. Mr. Hearst's statements regarding an alleged attempt to bribe ex-Attorney General Monet of Ohio, are pure fiction.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 18.—Senator J. B. Foraker gave out this signed statement to lay regarding the charges against the Senator made at Columbus, by W. R. Hearst, at the independence party rally, and the letters to the senator signed by John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company, which Hearst read:

"I don't know whether the letters given out by Mr. Hearst are true copies or not, but I assume they are, for I was then engaged in the practice of law and was employed by the Standard Oil Company as one of its counsel in connection with its affairs in Ohio where it was attacked in the courts and in the legislature.

"While I do not recall the dates, I remember that I rendered the company such service as I could, charged for it and was paid.

"The employment had no reference whatever to anything pending in Congress or to anything in which the federal government had the slightest interest.

"That I was so employed and presumably compensated for my services was common knowledge at the time; at least I never made any effort to conceal the fact. On the contrary, I was pleased to have people know that I had such clients.

"It had not then become discreditable, but was considered just the reverse to be employed by such corporations.

"That employment ended before my first term in the Senate expired. I have not represented the company in any way since. In other words, I have not represented the company in any way since long before it was attacked by the federal government nor since before, with full general knowledge, I was re-elected to the Senate."

"J. B. FORAKER."

Franklin, Pa., Sept. 18.—Jos. C. Sibley today denied most emphatically that he had ever written a letter to John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, telling him that he had warned President Roosevelt not to offend the Standard.

"I never had any such thing in mind," said Mr. Sibley.

For the first time in the history of the Russian capital, an order has been issued for the cleaning and disinfection of the slums of St. Petesburg. The municipal council, in extra session today, ordered the thorough overhauling of the slums in an effort to check the ravages of cholera. Over 200 new cases of cholera were reported today, which makes the number of cases officially reported since the outbreak nearly 1,300.

Germany's Raises Taxes.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—Having outlined the heaviest increase in taxation the country has ever known, Emperor William is today busily explaining why the money is so imperatively needed. His views are given to the public through members of the cabinet yet every one understands that they are not the ministers' views, but the kaiser's.

The public debt has grown from $4,000,000, in 1877 to $1,062,000,000. Successive loans have been floated until the market is glutted with government securities and the level of other quotations is perilously low.

His majesty is alarmed at the government securities' tendency toward depreciation and fears that it would be hard to borrow money in the event of war.

In return for the taxes which he expects his people to pay, the kaiser says he intends to give the country a more economical administration, pay off outstanding debts and not permit them to accumulate again.

Numerous bureau chiefs have been hauled over the coals for extravagant management of their departments. The number of civil servants is to be greatly reduced.

Upon the army and navy alone more, instead of less, money is to be spent. Wilhelm's idea is to raise the additional revenue by taxing the necessaries of life.

Italian Flag Excluded.

Rome, Sept. 18.—What is believed by clericals in the Catholic church today to be a great triumph for the opponents of a reconciliation between the church and state and to mark a complete change in the policy of Pope Pius X, was the action of the Swiss guards yesterday in excluding the Italian flag from the vatican. The flag was carried by a procession of Catholics who visited the Vatican with a jubilee gift for the pope. The processionists attempted to carry the flag into the Vatican, but it was ordered removed. The processionists objected seriously to the interference, insisting that the Italian flag has often been admitted to the Vatican under the regime of Pope Pius. The fact that consent was still refused is taken to mean that the pope has changed his policy and that the opponents of the union of church and state now completely dominate him. Only the tri-colored flag was excluded from the vatican.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Minus its flagship, the American fleet sailed away from Albany, Australia, at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Manila. The Connecticut will follow at midnight being detained in coaling. The fleet left one day late but Manila will probably be reached on schedule time, October 1.

Her oil-soaked garments blazing fiercely Mrs. Margaret Bradford created a great sensation in Mobile, Ala., today when she rushed into the street a mass of flames. She is dying at an infirmary. Mrs. Bradford who is believed to have been demented, poured coal oil over her body and then touched a match to her clothing.

Mark Twain's Italian villa at Redding, near Danbury, Connecticut, was entered by burglars early today, who, caught packing up the table silver by the humorists' secretary, Miss Lyon, made a bold dash for liberty with their loot. They were captured about five miles from the villa after a fight on a train in which one of the burglars and a deputy sheriff were wounded.

Uncle Remus's Magazine for September has been received from its publishers in Atlanta. This magazine, founded by Joel Chandler Harris, is being conducted on lines laid out by him and improves with every issue. The subjects this month cover a wide range. A letter to President Roosevelt from Julian Harris and his response will be read with interest. Don Marquis contributes "The Farmer of Snapbean Farm" and "A Glance in Passing," "Woman's Influence on our Language," A Florida Paradise" and "Work of a Western Artist" are prominent articles. Five short stories and a serial give interesting fiction and the verse, reviews, etc. are excellent.

CHILDREN'S HOME.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

Please allow me space in your paper for a few words in regard to the "Children's Home" of our town, as so few people seem to understand the needs in this home, which is accommodating 20 children, ranging from 1 to 11 or 12 years. Too much cannot be said in appreciation of the merchants for their donations for the table, but the home has never been furnished. In fact it lacks comforts. If some would take time to go through it I am sure we would not have to appeal so often. It is in need of furniture of every kind.

There are two noble women in charge of the home, Mrs. Waterly and Mrs. Minch, who do everything for the comfort of the children as far as they have to do with. Just now they are compelled to have stoves, as they have not one they can start up this year; they have given out, and they must have not less than three; so I take this means of appealing to whoever may feel able to either send the money or stoves, which will be most gratefully received. They will add much comfort to the children. The home in on Duke street.

A WARM FRIEND OF THE HOME.

PROFITABLE GOLD MINE.

One of the most extensive campaigns of development in the Goldfield, Nev., camp is being vigorously prosecuted on the ground of the Rawhide Daisy Mining company, which has already been the scene of several important strikes in the past. The property is situated on Balloon hill between the rich estates on the Rawhide Queen and Rawhide Goldfield Consolidated and its owners have done more to prove the continuity of the ledges and persistency of values on this side of the hill than any others working there, with the possible exception of the Jordan lease, now in high grade ore on the Mascott No. 1. An excellent body of milling ore is being developed in the north shaft of the Rawhide Daisy in the drift on the 100-foot level. The ledge is in place with both the hanging and foot walls splendidly defined with a width of nearly six feet that is breaking to an average of $20 to 25 to the ton. No attempt is being made to block out the ore at this time as a powerful hoist and complete plant of machinery is now being installed and when complete sinking will be resumed. Supt. J. H. Schweble, formerly in charge of several of the Mohawk leases, is of the opinion that the richest ore bodies will be opened up at the water level or when the sulphide zone is penetrated and there is not a mining man who has given any study to the conditions in Rawhide who does not agree with him. Mr. Schweble states that he expects to get into the sulphides within the next 200 feet and that when he does he is confident the Daisy will prove to be one of the richest mines in the camp. Mr. Thomas B. Le Cuyer is the representative in this section.

TRUNK THIEVES CAUGHT.

Early last June the manager of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, in Washington, reported to local police there that three trunks had been stolen from the freight house at the foot of Seventh street southwest. One of the trunks, which contained costly wearing apparel and bric-a-brac, belonged to Miss Florence Stewart, daughter of Col. Stewart, exiled by President Roosevelt; one to H. H. Smith, inspector for the Post Office Department, and one to a man, whose identity cannot be learned, but is said to be prominent socially. Immediately after the report reached police headquarters, Capt. Boardman, chief of detectives, detailed two of his best men on the case, but they could not obtain a clew. About July 15 Policeman Cole informed the captain of this precinct that he had a clew to the men who were responsible for the robbery, as they had been making away with much merchandise along the river front. Cole immediately was detailed on the case and with the assistance of Chief of Police Goods, of this city, and his associates, succeeded in clearing up the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat trunk mystery, which, since last June, has baffled the police of both cities and incidentally the officers have arrested three men, who, the police say, have been responsible for numerous steamboat robberies along the water front this summer. The policeman learned that the man had taken the trunks from the freight house about 2 o'clock in the morning, rowed up to the slip beside the steamer Newport News and climbed on the wharf. The trunks were loaded in a rowboat and taken to Four-Mile Run and there broken open. After the contents were taken out the trunks were burned. The goods were taken to a house about a mile from Four Mile Run and then peddled through Virginia. Most of the goods were sold in this city. After a month's work assisted by Chief Goods and other officers, of this city, Policeman Cole has arrested Daniel Nolan, 50 years old; Edward B. Norris, 20 years old, and John Toomy. These men are well-known to the police of Washington.

POLITICAL.

Hon. C. C. Carlin, according to promise to the national democratic committee, left today for Charlestown, W. Va., where he will address the voters of that city tonight.

On the afternoon of the 30th Governor Swanson and Mr. Carlin will speak at Great Falls, Alexandria county, and at night they will speak at the Alexandria county courthouse, when, as heretofore stated, a Bryan, Kern and Carlin Democratic Club will be organized.

At Culpeper, on Monday, the three candidates for gubernatorial honors will meet and address the voters. The speeches of Judge William Hodges, Mann, Messrs. H. St. George Tucker and Henry Stuart, on that occasion are looked forward to with interest.

BAKER BICYCLE FIVE.

The prettiest quintette performance ever seen in an arena is the one given in the Frank Robbin's circus by the famous English Baker Quintette of expert fancy and trick bicycle riders. There are three men, two ladies and two little tots, who, while they ride, form beautiful tableaux, in which exquisitely handsome and costly costumes add to the general attractiveness. The Bakers are immediately followed by the Tramp Awheel. He rides up and down stairs, jumps with his wheel and while astride it from high places and rides away, and he is also the only rider of the Giraffe bicycle with his saddle fifteen feet higher than his wheel. The Baker Quintette are also skatorial artists of wonderful ability.

The Frank A. Robbins shows will exhibit in Alexandria, Thursday, September 24.

DIED IN NEW MEXICO.

Mrs. Kemp went to Artesia about 6 years ago with her son Mr. E. B. Kemp, who has been in business there, since leaving Alexandria Mrs. Kemp had lived here nearly all her life and had many friends who will be pained to hear of her demise. Her remains will arrive in this city on Monday next when her funeral will take place. She was a consistant christian and a member of the M. E. Church South.

PLEASURE PARTY SAILS.

As this is the best season of the year for fishing, a party consisting of Messrs. F. M. Hill, T. A. Fisher, Thomas Alton Moore, Geo. T. Burroughs, John Riley and F. M. Hamilton left this afternoon for Potomac creek on the schooner Ella Hill. As this is a well-matched party it is predicted that they will have a good time. They expect to spend about 10 days.

FATAL TRIP.

After having drawn the attention of the world to his aeroplane flights at Fort Myer and having also established new world records for heavier-than-air flying machines, Orville Wright yesterday met with a tragical mishap while making a two-man flight. A telephone message reached this city about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon that the aeroplane would fly and would sail over Alexandria. This attracted a large number of citizens to Shooters' Hill, the point of destination of the aeroplane. After waiting until nearly dark and realizing that somehad happened to the aeroplane, thing, the disappointed ones returned to their homes only to hear by telegrams and telephone that a serious mishap had occurred. The aeroplane arose beautifully, but while the machine was encircling the drill grounds a propeller-blade snapped off and hitting some other part of the intricate mechanism caused it to careen in the air and fall to the ground, enveloping the two occupants in the debris. Soldiers and other spectators ran across the field to where the aeroplane had fallen and assisted in lifting Mr. Wright and Lieutenant Selfridge of the Signal Corps of the army, who accompanied him, from under the tangled mass of machinery, rods, wires and shreds of muslin. Mr. Wright was conscious and said: "Oh, hurry and lift the motor." Selfridge was unconscious and had apparently struck the ground with great force. His head was covered with blood and he was choking when the soldiers extricated him from under the machine. The officer lay on the ground on all fours, with an expression of agony on his face. Under him was Wright's arm. The aviator, with blood streaming from a large gash in his forehead, lay across the body of Lieut. Selfridge. He was groaning when lifted out of the wreckage.

When the men had been removed from the heap, Maj. Squier, Lieuts. Lahm and Creesy, boon companions of Lieut. Selfridge, and Dr. Millard Thompson and several other volunteers began stripping the clothing from the injured men. Mounted artillerymen rode at breakneck speed to the post hospital to summon surgeons, while members of the signal corps ran for buckets of water. Lieutenant Selfridge was fatally injured, and died at 8:10 o'clock last night. Mr. Wright was seriously injured, but is expected to recover.

Before going up with Orville Wright, in anticipation of leaving for Missouri, Lieut. Selfridge had packed his grip. And in anticipation of his departure, not from this world, in which he had achieved such fame, but only from the city, he had shaken many of his friends warmly by the hand and told them good-by. These friends remembered his handshake and the cheery words of good-by when they learned last night of his death. He was to have started for St. Joe this morning, and many of them had promised to see him off at the Union station.

A chosen few had had engagements with him for last evening, and these left the festive board to be near at his bedside, faithful to the end, and supply as best they could that last association of those near and dear that falls to the family.

Lieut. Selfridge was selected to go to St. Joe, Mo., because of his success in handling the Baldwin dirigible balloon, in which he made several successful flights at Fort Myer.

Orville Wright was resting easy this morning, although very weak from the terrible injuries and the shock he sustained. "I believe he will recover," said Dr. Bailey, one of his physicians. "He is suffering from a slight concussion of the brain as well as the broken thigh and three fractured ribs. He is weak from loss of blood, and I have instructed the nurses not to permit any one to see him. He must be kept perfectly quiet, and no intimation of Lieutenant Selfridge's death must reach him. He is bearing up wonderfully well, under the circumstances."

Lieutenant Selfridge lived only a little more than two hours after the accident, and during that time he did not recover consciousness. An operation proved that he had sustained a compound fracture of the skull, under which a large blood clot had formed.

A few days ago, elated as a school boy over the record breaking successes of his brother in his aeroplane flights in America, Wilbur G. Wright, who is in Le Mans, France, today was greatly depressed over the news of the destruction of Orville's machine, his serious injury and the death of Lieutenant Selfridge. He locked himself in the aeroplane shed at Auvours and denied himself to all who came to console him, not even admitting the Prince and Princess de Sagan. He declined to make an extended statement on the accident, declaring that his personal grief would prevent such a thing, even if he were in possession of sufficient facts to base an intelligent statement. Wright has postponed all his scheduled flights on account of the accident.

Emperor William today ordered the German embassy at Washington to convey to the family of Lieutenant Thomas Selfridge, the victim of the Wright aeroplane accident, his personal condolence. The emperor was shocked when he heard of the accident at Fort Myer. He is greatly interested in problems of aerial navigation and looked upon the Wright brothers as the greatest exponent of aerial flights. He expressed the hope that the injury to Orville Wright would not deter him from continuing his experiments.

Lieutenant Selfridge was expecting his mother, who lives in San Francisco, to arrive in Washington this month. He was a nephew of Admiral Selfridge and has a brother, who is an officer in the navy.

By direction of Major Squier, acting chief signal officer, an investigation was begun early today to determine the precise cause of the Wright aeroplane catastrophe. The entire aeronautical board is now at Fort Myer, interviewing witnesses of the accident, and examining what remains of the aeroplane.

DEATH OF CARROLL W. ASHBY.

The many friends and acquaintances of Mr. Carroll W. Ashby were startled and grieved early this morning to learn that he had been found dead in the Lafayette Turkish Baths, Washington. His death was due to apoplexy. Mr. Ashby spent part of yesterday with some friends fishing below this city. He returned to his home in the evening and left here for Washington on the 9.30 train. Later he went to the bath house and after taking his bath retired, telling the proprietor to be sure to call him at 7 o'clock this morning. At that time an attendant went to his room and found Mr. Ashby dead in bed. He was apparently in perfect health all day and was mingling with friends as usual. He leaves a widow and one child—a son—both of whom are now in Minneapolis.

The deceased was a son of the late F. W. Ashby and a brother of Mrs. W. R. Purvis and Miss Margaret McG. Ashby, who survive him, and was 51 years old. The deceased had been in the employ of the Southern Railway Company since early manhood, and at the time of his death was second assistant treasurer in the general office in Washington. He was one of the most popular of our citizens, and his death is sincerely regretted by all who knew him. He was a member of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons, of Mt. Vernon Royal Arch Chapter and of Old Dominion Commandery, Knights Templar. His remains will be brought here today, but the arrangements for his funeral have not yet been made.

Telegrams received here today state that his sisters, who are in Shenandoah county, will reach here tonight and that his widow and son will arrive from Minneapolis on Sunday morning.

DEATH OF THOMAS MAHON.

Mr. Thomas Mahon, an old and well-known citizen, died at his home, 234 north Henry street, this morning. The deceased was about 70 years old. Mr. Mahon was the driver of a baggage wagon in the latter part of the fifties when the terminus of the Orange and Alexandria (now Southern) Railway was at the foot of King street, where passengers, mail and baggage were transferred to the ferry steamer George Page. Upon arriving at Washington the omnibus and wagons proceeded to the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. depot where connection was made with trains for the north. But few of those employed on the vehicles, steamer or trains are now living. Mr. Fred Geisendaffer, who was baggage master on the Orange road at that time, is one of the very few now living.

He Told the Lawyer.

Lawyer S. is well known for his uncomely habits. He cuts his hair about four times a year and the rest of the time looks decidedly ragged about the ears. He was making a witness describe a barn which figured in his last case.

"How long had the barn been built?"

"Oh, I don't know—about a year mebby, about nine months p'raps."

"But just how long? Tell the jury how long it had been built."

"Well, I don't know exactly—quite awhile."

"Now, Mr. B., you pass for an intelligent farmer, and yet you can't tell me how old this barn is, and you have lived on the next farm for ten years. Can you tell me how old your own barn is? Come, now, tell us how old your own house is, if you think you know."

Quick as lightning the old farmer replied:

"You want to know how old my house is, do ye? Well, it's just about as old as you be, and the roof needs seeing to about as bad."

In the roar that followed the witness stepped down, and Lawyer S. didn't call him back.—London Globe.

An Acceptable Clock.

A well known professor sometimes became so much interested in his lecture that when the noon bell rang he kept the class five or ten minutes over the hour. Certain restless spirits among the students thought they would give him a gentle hint, so they bought an alarm clock, set it to go off precisely at noon and placed it on the professor's desk when they came in to the next lecture. They knew that he was a little absentminded and expected that he would not notice it. As the noon hour struck the alarm went off with a crash, and those of the class not in the secret started and took in the joke at once. There was a round of applause. The professor waited until the alarm and the applause were over and then said: "Young gentlemen, thank you for this little gift. I had forgotten it was my birthday. An alarm clock is something my wife has needed for our servant for some time. It is a very kind remembrance on your part." The professor then went on to finish a demonstration interrupted by the alarm.—London Tit-Bits.

Names In Alaska.

Life in Alaska is uncouth in parts, but it has its refinements. In Valdes there lived a man named Jake, who kept a boarding house for dogs. When the prospectors returned from their sled trips they would place their teams in his charge until ready to start out again. As he fed his guests on garbage gathered by a house to house canvass, he was known by every one as "Slop Jake."

Once upon a time he fell ill, and the newspaper wished to chronicle the fact. No one, however, knew Jake's other name, and it didn't seem worth while to waste the time of the editorial staff on so insignificant a detail. So the news was printed thus:

"Our well known fellow citizen, S. Jake, is confined to his house with a severe cold. It is hoped he will be out soon."—New York Times.

Fooling the Beans.

A Yankee of the quaint old time type was preparing to bestow a coat of whitewash on his henhouse one spring long ago. He had completed the mixing of the whitewash, a writer in the Manchester Union says, and, looking round for something on which to try it, picked up a bean pole and ran the brush over it. Another local character, who was driving by, stopped his horse and called out: "Hello! What ye whitewashing your bean poles for?"

"Thought everybody knew that beans grow better on birch poles," returned the other without pausing in his work.

"Ye don't expect to make birch poles that way, do ye?"

"Mebbe not, but whitening of 'em 'll make the beans think the poles are birch anyhow."

Origin of Cemeteries.

In ancient times burials were always outside the walls of a city or town indeed, before the time of Christianity it was not lawful to bury the dead within the limits. About the end of the sixth century St. Augustine obtained of King Ethelbert a temple of idol—used by the king before his conversion—and made a burying place of it and St. Cuthbert afterward obtained leave of the pope (A. D. 752) to have yards made to the churches suitable for the burial of the dead.

The Little Ones.

It was a bright and very original little boy named Barber, who, upon hearing his father speak of "their neighbor Mr. Wood and his children, the little splinters," and of another neighbor "Mr. Stone and the little pebbles," remarked: "I suppose if they met papa they would say: 'Good morning, Mr. Barber. How are all the little shavers?'"

His Advantage.

"You can't spell long words like hippopotamus and parallelogram," said the little boy who wore spectacles and a sailor suit.

"Well," answered the boy who was leading a dog by a piece of rope, "dat's where I'm lucky. I don't have to."

Four Kinds of Trouble.

Judge—What have you to say as to the charge that while the husband of one woman you married three others? Bigamist—Simply this—that having four of a kind isn't what it is cracked up to be.
